

In case of system failure, distribute to Participant D.

Instructions:

You are part of the search team tasked with finding the next Director for a prestigious research-oriented university, the London Institute of Epidemiology and Public Health (LIEPH).

Note: This is the second attempt to fill the Director position, as a previous search committee was unable to agree on a candidate.

Job Posting

Title:

Director, London Institute of Epidemiology & Public Health (LIEPH)

Overview of Role:

The LIEPH Director has primary responsibility for overseeing the institute's administration, encompassing teaching, research, mission fulfillment, and financial stability. They are in charge of strategic planning, fundraising, budget management, compliance with university policies, and cultivating relationships with the community, alumni, and external stakeholders.

Candidates will be evaluated on the following criteria:

Demonstrated academic scholarship or extensive, relevant professional credentials suitable for leadership in an academic setting.

Leadership qualities in an academic or comparable environment, characterized by:

- Unwavering commitment to ethical standards.
- Dedication to inclusive governance involving faculty, staff, and students.

- Commitment to fostering diversity among faculty, staff, and students.
- Capacity to envision the university's future and provide the necessary leadership to actualize that vision.
- Commitment to instilling a culture that values excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service.
- A track record of successful fundraising.
- Ability to advocate for the university to external stakeholders, increasing support for its mission and programs.
- Dedication to enhancing the quality of life for students, faculty, and staff.
- Support for the adoption of new technologies to enhance learning, scholarship, and knowledge dissemination.

Briefing Notes: Pro Director of Education

In this exercise, you will play the role of the "Pro Director of Education"

As the Pro Director of Education, you oversee educational programs within the organization, ensuring they are aligned them with the institution's mission and goals. This involves developing a rigorous academic curriculum, cultivating an excellent teaching faculty, establishing assessment benchmarks, ensuring accreditation compliance, and engaging with the student community.

As a member of the 4-person search committee, your primary goal is to identify a new Institute Director who will uphold LIEPH's leadership in teaching within the specialized field of life sciences.

Following a meticulous selection process, you have narrowed down the pool of candidates to three individuals. The purpose of this meeting is to decide whom to invite as the next Director of LIEPH.

In the following pages you will find notes prepared by your executive assistant. As per your customary practice, please review these thoroughly and identify your preferred candidate before the final selection committee meeting.

Candidate 1: Smith

Resume Highlights:

- Holds the rank of Full Professor in Information Technology (IT).
- Past roles include Business Dean and Chair of the Information and Technology department at a large northern university.
- As Dean, initiated plans for a £25 million business school building.
- Currently serves as Provost and Executive Vice President at a medium-sized Welsh university.
- While serving as Provost in Wales, the business college secured a £15 million donation.

Additional Insights from the Interview Process:

- National reputation for IT research among academics.
- Recognized for IT expertise by business leaders.
- Feedback from faculty in past roles suggests a tendency to discourage new, innovative ideas.
- Engages in IT consulting work.
- In an interview, emphasized the importance of collaboration with campus leaders and faculty.
- Exhibited strong oratory skills during faculty presentations.
- Likes to garden.
- Has been observed drinking heavily in public, including at university events.

Candidate 2: Patel

Resume Highlights:

- Recently completed one term as a Member of Parliament for Richmond, and opted not to seek re-election.
- Raised a significant amount of money to campaign for M.P.
- Previously held positions as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at a medium-sized Scottish university and later at a large private university in Surrey.
- Attained the rank of Full Professor in Public Administration before assuming the role of M.P.

Additional Insights from the Interview Process:

- Feedback noted a perceived aloofness in Patel's faculty presentations.
- Six-year absence from higher education.
- Enjoys golf and tennis.

- Played a key role in securing a multi-million pound federal grant for a Surrey-based non-profit institution.
- Is divorced and remarried; has two children.
- Has little direct experience with student life issues on campus.
- As an M.P., was accused of changing positions on issues for political gain.

Candidate 3: Jones

Resume Highlights:

- Senior Managing Partner at a prominent London law firm.
- Last 5 years dedicated to service on LIEPH Board of Trustees and as a member of the steering committee for the ongoing £150 million capital campaign.
- Expertise in employment law and a track record of effective government lobbying for key policies.
- Published a successful book on controversial public health law and policy.

Additional Insights from the Interview Process:

- Pleasant personality in social settings.
- Regarded by partners as a strategic thinker in the law firm's direction.
- Law firm sources attribute a higher turnover rate to Jones' somewhat abrasive leadership style.
- Feedback from fellow trustees suggests tension between the current provost and Jones.
- Reads mystery novels and biographies.
- One of the more active members of LIEPH's Board of Trustees.
- Well-received as a teacher, based on student enrollment and evaluations.
- Enjoys cooking.